

WELCOME!

Residents and visitors alike are welcomed to enjoy the new Ellicott Trail in Batavia, NY.

Officially opened in July 2020, the 10 ft. wide crushed stone multi-use recreational trail has been created on 4.9 miles of old railroad beds. Including sidewalks, bike lanes and bridges, the entire trail is 9.7 miles connecting recreational, historical and residential areas, also crossing the Tonawanda Creek.

The trail's eastern entrance is on Seven Springs Rd., (near Oakwood Hills subdivision), and its western entrance is on Industrial Boulevard (off Pearl St., Rt. 33). In between, it passes over the CSX railway on a refurbished bridge with covered bridge similarities, winds its way through the picturesque DeWitt Recreation Area on Cedar St. and the Historic Elmwood Cemetery, then travels along Ellicott St. to a new bridge over the Tonawanda Creek near Walnut St., and finally passing through Williams Park on Pearl St.

The trail is good for all skill levels. Parking is available at Williams Park, Dewitt Recreational Area, throughout downtown Batavia and along Red Oak Lane. Dogs are not allowed in Dewitt Recreation Area or through the Elmwood Cemetery portion, but the rest is dog-friendly.

The Ellicott Trail is a $1.7-million joint venture between the Town and City of Batavia. The Town of Batavia was lead agency. A New York State Department of Transportation grant funded 80 percent of the project and the Town of Batavia and City of Batavia each contributed 10 percent. A Municipal Facility Grant of $250,000 paid for a new bridge on Walnut Street, as well as portion of funds from a Genesee County Parks Department capital project paid for a boardwalk at DeWitt Recreation Area.
